Tres Hermanas

I want to invite you to be a part of a project I am very excited about - books for kids in Puerto Rico. I thought you might be interested too!

A good friend of mine moved to Puerto Rico over a year ago and has started this amazing service project! She lives in Aguadilla, which is a city on the northwest corner of Puerto Rico. Because the kids in her community don't have a library that they can use, she has built little libraries in some parks near her house. She collects books that are gently used when she is on the mainland and ships them to her home in Puerto Rico. When she is back on the island, she fills the park libraries with books!

I thought that since my friends and classmates have so many books that we could collect them together and send them to her. It is usually less than $20 to ship a whole box full of books to Puerto Rico - book rate!

Are you interested? If you are, collect gently used books that aren't written in or torn up and bring them to our class. She is collecting books for babies to sixth grade level. Spanish or English is great! I will collect them in a box and send them to Puerto Rico.

If you don't have books but want to help, you can donate to the shipping. Any amount helps!

You can check out my friend's website if you want to learn more.
